COLONEL KEVIN RIEDLER

COMMANDER, US ARMY GARRISON FORT HUNTER LIGGETT

A native Minnesotan and graduate of West Point, Colonel Kevin Riedler arrived at Fort Hunter Liggett in early 2007 from the 81st Regional Readiness Command in Alabama, where he served as the Deputy Commander, Readiness. Previous assignments include two tours as an instructor at the US Army War College in Carlisle Barracks, Pa.; deployments to Iraq and Haiti; and serving as a Strategic Planner for the Office of the Assistants to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for National Guard and Reserve Matters - the advisors to the Chairman for all Reserve Component issues. He currently serves as the Installation Commander for all four CSTC installations.

Besides his Joint Staff time, Colonel Riedler spent three additional years at the Pentagon as a Legislative Affairs Officer managing day-to-day communications for the Chief, Army Reserve with the Association of the United States Army (AUSA), Reserve Officer's Association (ROA), Senior Army Reserve Commander's Association (SARCA), Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee, and Reserve Forces Policy Board. He served six years as a member of the AUSA Board of Advisors, Chairman of the ROA Roles & Missions Committee, ROA's National Executive Committee, and has been a regular speaker/mentor at numerous Junior Officer Leadership Training and Development seminars.

Colonel Riedler has a master's in computer science from Brigham Young University, and completed a year's Senior Service College national security fellowship at the Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University in lieu of the War College. He, his bride and their five children enjoy coaching and playing sports, scouting, church activities, and music, having sung with the Mormon Choir of Washington D.C., and in numerous musicals.
